

Wild Filmmakers Terms & Conditions

Wild Filmmaker, the most prestigious platform for film festivals and awards worldwide, is now open for you to join.

Our team has produced films with several Oscar winners, Nobel prizes, and award-winning authors at major festivals such as Cannes, Venice, Sundance, BAFTA, Berlin, and more.

From today, we invite you to become a valued member of the largest international community dedicated to independent filmmakers and screenwriters.

Registering your project is very simple, secure, and affordable.

We accept any kind of audiovisual project or screenplay for our events, including short films, narrative features, documentaries, animations, music videos, feature scripts, short scripts, and even books.

Only works already selected by our international team in world festivals can participate in the Wild Filmmaker platform. This means we have already evaluated your work, and you won't need to send it to us. In case we need more information, we will contact you.

Signing up means already being part of the OFFICIAL SELECTION of the events and festivals you are invited to.

You will be informed of the deadline and the date when the winners will be announced for each individual festival or event you sign up for.

With Wild Filmmaker, you will have the opportunity to distribute your projects worldwide.

If you have any questions, you can email us; we will be happy to assist you.